CoinUp® Fee Schedule

Pricing is subject to change without notice.

For online features, CoinUp® collects a monthly subscription. Additional fees are collected by CoinUp®, but are passed along. Cellular Service fees are passed along to cellular provider, credit card fees are passed along to credit card companies, and tournament prize funding paid for by the players is passed along to any winners. The Operator portion can be adjusted as noted, using coinup.com - under the Game Machines section, or at the game – in Diagnostic menu system, within Operator Adjustments, in Player Cost. Adjustments should be made to each individual game.

Accounting Guidelines

After the close of each billing cycle, the monthly CoinUp® billing statement, itemizing the costs of online services, is viewable through the operator account at www.coinup.com.

The statement shows the approximate date of the automatic debit, allowing time to deposit appropriate funds. The automatic debit charges the bank account submitted on your debit account form.

CoinUp® honors company checks but must receive them three or more business days before the debit date. Late or delinquent deposits may exclude a game from access to online features and incur late fees.

Term of Service for each unit

By registering a game with CoinUp®, You agree to keep the game unit online and pay the Monthly CoinUp Service fee for a period of twelve (12) months (the “Initial Period”). At any point after the Initial Period, You may have your game unit taken offline by contacting Play Mechanix at which point, Your current fees for that game unit are still due but no further CoinUp Fees will accrue for this game unit. If you choose to take your game unit offline, before the end of the Initial Period, a fee of $300, less the amount of Monthly CoinUp Service fees already paid for this game unit, will be charged to your account. Initial Period will be extended by the amount of days that Monthly CoinUp Service fee may be suspended, during the Initial Period.

Monthly Coinup Service and Monthly Cellular Service fees are prorated during the first month according to the number of days after which the unit is first registered/activated. After this initial month, both Monthly Coinup Service and Monthly Cellular Service fees are billed in their entirety. These fees will be billed recurringly each month, until cancelled by taking the unit offline, as stipulated above. Early termination and/or cancellation fees may apply.

Monthly Coinup Upgrade fees are billed monthly in their entirety. These fees are billed recurringly each month, for a period of three years (36 months), or until cancelled by taking the unit offline, as stipulated above. Early termination and/or cancellation fees may apply.
